Striking New Red Cross Poster

Riveting the attention of the beholder on the fact that the American Red Cross is chartered by Congress as an official volunteer relief organization the dome of the Capitol at Washington, upon which is superimposed a large Red Cross, is the central figure of a new poster for the Annual Red Cross Roll Call. The poster, which has been pronounced one of the most striking of innumerable representations of the famous dome, is the work of Franklin Booth, a New York artist of wide renown. It will be displayed throughout the country during the Roll Call period, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, when the Red Cross membership for 1923 will be enrolled.

PLEASED THE "MONEY BAGS"

European Capitalists Listened With Pleasure to Accounts of Rockefeller's Stupendous Wealth.

During my stay in London I accepted an invitation to have luncheon with Lord Rothschild at his office, John Hays Hammond writes in Scribner's. It had been my custom, extending over a period of many years, to drop in informally and have luncheon with the Rothschilds once or twice during each of my frequent visits to London. On these occasions always the most interesting topic of conversation was my estimate of the wealth of Rockefeller and other rich Americans. Lord Rothschild invariably introduced the subject and forewarned, I was ready to give him the desired thrill. He would usually start with some "piker" capitalist, whose wealth did not amount to more than the paltry sum of $100,000,000, and then worked up by queries until he reached the American Croesus, John D. Rockefeller. It would be an unpatriotic American who would belittle the wealth of a compatriot at a time like this, and after having modestly admitted, in reply to Lord Rothschild's question, that Rockefeller was certainly worth $500,000,000, assuming an air of ultra-conservatism, I would allow him to extort what was to him a delectable fact that Rockefeller was worth at least $750,000,000; and when the money bags around the table stared at me with an expression of pleased surprise, but not of doubt, I would in subdued tone convey to them the fact that in informed financial circles of America the Rockefeller's wealth was estimated at over $1,000,000,000! The internationalism of the Rothschild family, and the utter lack of envy, is evidenced in the unmistakable pleasure which characterized the reception of this titbit of high finance.

BIRDS STILL FAR SUPERIOR

Man's "Conquest of the Air" Seems to Be Thing of the Far Distant Future.

Aviators fly 1,200 miles with two stops for fuel, and the world applauds the deed. Other aviators actually cross the Atlantic—at its narrowest point, some 1,600 miles wide—and the fact stands still unrivaled by a heavier-than-air machine. But out on the Pacific, an albatross followed a steamer for six days and seven nights without alighting. In this time, the ship traveled nearly 3,000 miles, and the bird, with the circlings, at least as far. Then, with the nearest land 1,900 miles away, the bird swallowed a greedy meal of food thrown over for it, turned abruptly, and disappeared.

Human aviation is a long, long way from having achieved that measure of endurance. It will come—probably—but it is not even in sight yet. In speed, the race between man and bird is close already, and victory in the end is sure to go to the former. As for altitude, the airplane has out-climbed even the condor. But in the supreme test of endurance, of the ability to fly and fly and keep on flying, man is ridiculously inferior.

Liberal Eastern Potentate.

The heir to the Ottoman throne, Abdul Medjid, is something new in the way of eastern potentates. According to European papers his life in Constantinople is a model of democracy. The future Commander of the Faithful, who is fifty years old, intensely enjoys the liberty of which he was deprived for thirty years by Abdul Hamid. He is said to divide his activities between music, painting, and writing. His library is stored with French books. His favorite writer is Anatole France, his favorite composer Beethoven. Two interesting signs of regeneration of the Ottoman empire are the facts that Abdul Medjid can be approached without oriental ceremony and that he has suppressed the harem of the palace.

Largest Crystal.

Some time ago there was found what was thought to be the largest of all crystals—a piece of spodumene 29 feet in length. Later, however, Professor Montgomery of Toronto announced that he had measured in the Etta tin mine in the Black hills a crystal of that mineral which was no less than 38 feet six inches in length and 32 inches in thickness. It was, he says, almost perfect in form.

Spodumene is a grayish-white or pink mineral almost as hard as quartz.

World's Petroleum Production.

Petroleum production of the world during the past year amounted to 759,030,000 barrels, an increase of 9.2 per cent over the previous year.

A Serious Matter.

"I suppose," said the cross-examining lawyer, in his snappiest manner, "that you remember the date of your birth?"

"Certainly," said the witness with a bored air. "Every man remembers his birthday."

"A newly born infant has no memory. Now, sir, how do you know that it wasn't a day sooner or a day later, or a week, or a month, or a year than the date you have in mind?"

"Why—er—ahem—I've been told—" "Exactly. You've been told, but you don't know. Step down. Gentlemen of the jury, this is the kind of witness who has testified against the unimpeachable character of my client."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Forage Crop Pays.

As a result of systematized regulation by the United States forest service, the forage crop of the national forests is now returning an annual income to the federal treasury of close to $2,500,000, says the American Forestry magazine. By a system of range allotments under which nominal grazing fees are charged, the forest service has brought the national forest ranges under practical and profitable administration.

The Pitcher and the Well.

"Did you participate in many engagements while in France?" asked the interested old lady.

"Only five," replied the ex-A. E. F. er with becoming modesty.

"And you came through them all unhurt?"

"Not exactly," he returned sadly. "I married the fifth."—American Legion Weekly.

THE STOCK MARKET SITUATION

Wellesley Hills, Mass., Oct. 14, 1922.—Readers should not be surprised—according to Roger W. Babson—because of the recent action of the stock market. When interviewed in Wellesley regarding the matter, Mr. Babson today said the seriousness of the European situation is greater than most people realize:

"It is really surprising that the stock market has held up so well during the past two weeks. Of course the break was due to the gravity of the Turkish situation which was understood only by the big bankers in New York. The real facts are that France is today in quite a similar position as that held by Germany in 1914.

"The real seriousness of the danger has somehow been hidden. The change has come swiftly. A few weeks ago England was in the saddle. At conferences she was the dictator. She did the talking and France did the worrying. Today the situation is just the reverse. England is now in a hole. France deliberately put her there.

"England alone of all European nations has stood for law and order. She alone has stood for the payment of debts, and the fulfillment of obligations. Germany and Austria are bankrupt. Chaos reigns in Russia. Italy is on the verge of bankruptcy. France is compromising. England is the only country who has told us that she will pay her debts with interest.

"England's policy with Germany has been in opposition to that of France. England has wanted to get for France as much out of Germany as possible without killing the goose that laid the golden eggs. England was Europe's big brother, and upon her the financial world has relied.

"Today England is faced with fighting Europe because she stands practically alone. The new government of Greece is not with her. Germany, alone, in case of war, is her possible ally. The Germany of today is not on friendly terms with the Turkey of today. Should, however, Germany go in with England, there would have to be an entirely new interpretation placed on many European relationships and the problems of those relationships. There is the matter of reparations, for instance. All international finances would be upset.

"Yes, England stands practically alone. Italy will back Turkey. Russia will back Turkey. And, of course, France will back Turkey. Hence it must be kept clear that the real issue is not between Great Britain and Turkey, but between Great Britain and France. France has been backing Turkey. England has been backing Greece. Turkey and Greece, however, have been but pawns on the chessboard.

"When the last war was on Russia was promised Constantinople. Russia withdrew. Then it was decided to keep Constantinople free, out of the power of either France or England. England slowly got a bit of the upper hand. This hurt the pride of France who patiently awaited her opportunity. Last month it came. Then France played her cards. In a few hours the entire European situation changed. Today France holds the trumps.

"It is not merely a war on paper, remember. Turkey is fortifying herself by putting guns and troops on land, in a hole and this is what caused the stock market to break and foreign bonds to tumble. Her own people are against war. There is the memory of the recent bloodshed. There is still the warning mark of great sorrow. An Englishman, too cannot see himself going to Turkey to fight. When Germany thundered in Europe right at England's door, the English Tommy was on fire to fight. But today it is different. The Englishman remembers sadly what happened at Gallipoli. He remembers the fearful cost of conquering a few Boers in South Africa. He knows that there are over 200,000,000 Mohammedans at Turkey's back door.

"Even the Englishman, who hasn't a son that is already lost or a son to lose, has taxes to pay. England, with her intention of paying her debts, is the only European country that really taxed her people severely. The ordinary English tradesman is up to his chin in taxes. (England has the highest tax rate in the world.) He is not eager for more, the weight of which would break him. This is the proposition with which England is faced. She has either got to fight the Turks at a tremendous cost of men and money, without the full co-operation of her own people, or else she has to lose India, Egypt, Persia and the Holy Land. Do you wonder the stock markets broke?

"What will happen? I do not know; but whatever happens, there will be no check on business. The farmer will be helped by higher prices for wheat. Manufacturing and shipping will become more active. The cost of living will go up. Money will be firmer and scarcer. People will sell their foreign securities. The stock market, however, will not permanently suffer. When the financial history of 1922 is written, this will be chronicled only as a 'break in the bull market.' Moreover, the writers will add: 'Considering the great seriousness of the Turkish situation, it is most surprising that the stock market has behaved so well. Only the fact that business was not inflated but was still 6 points below normal saved the situation. Had the nation in 1922 been enjoying a period of real prosperity, there would have been witnessed a real old-fashioned panic.'

RED CROSS WINNING IN FIGHT FOR HEALTH

Better, Stronger Citizenry Now Emerging Out of Work in United States.

The American Red Cross as an evangelist of better health has looked its problem square in the face. How it accepted the task revealed to it in the nation's physical condition as brought out during the World War, and conscientiously applied its activities to correction forms a vivid chapter in the forthcoming annual report. Historically and practically, nursing is a basic work for the Red Cross. In its public health nursing service, in instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition classes, first aid and life saving courses and health centers, the American Red Cross is applying effectually the lessons learned during the war and making for a healthier, stronger and better nourished citizenry.

The task of the Red Cross Public Health nurse in the 1,240 nursing services now operating throughout the country instructing their communities in health essentials and disease prevention is demonstrating the possibilities of human betterment and the great benefits of enlightenment.

During the last year 313 new public health nursing services were established by Red Cross Chapters, and several hundred services so convincingly proved their effectiveness that they were taken over by public authorities. In order to promote this work $30,000 was allotted to provide women to prepare themselves for public nursing. The home visits made by the 1,240 nurses aggregated nearly 1,500,000, visits to schools numbered 140,000, and in six months 1,250,000 school children were inspected by these nurses and where defects were found advised examination by physicians. In rural communities this service has made a very marked advance and has won thousands of converts to approved methods of disease prevention.

In home hygiene and care of the sick instruction, which fits the student in methods of proper care where illness is not so serious as to require professional service, the Red Cross conducted 3,884 classes during the last year, enrolled 2,356 instructors, 93,448 students and issued 42,656 certificates. On June 30, 1922, nutrition service embraced 1,100 classes, with a total of 27,523 children and 2,589 enrolled dietitians. Seventy-eight food selection classes graduated 733 who received Red Cross certificates. In general health activities Red Cross Chapters maintained 377 health centers, serving as many communities, provided 38,751 health lectures for large audiences everywhere, while clinics numbered over 10,000.

ON EQUALITY WITH HUSBANDS

Filipino Women, Entering Into Matrimony, Become Partners in Future Business Enterprises.

"When a Filipino woman marries she goes into partnership with her husband," said Mme. Sofia Reyes de Veyra, wife of the Philippine commissioner to the United States. "While the men handle the work and employees, the women attend to the finances, act as cashiers, pay the workers and oversee much of the business." Things are made easy in many ways for Filipino women, she asserted, writes Louise Ottol in the Milwaukee Journal. Professional opportunities are as good for them as for men. Women are already members of the Philippine Bar association, a privilege not open to British women.

"Married women in the Philippines hold their property in severalty, and are guardians of their own children. Of the property which accrues to a married couple, the wife is half administratrix and there are vested rights which cannot be taken away. It is not unusual for the mother of a family to have not only household leadership, but economic control."

Women's clubs are rapidly growing in the islands, Mme. De Veyra said, and pointed out that already 800 clubs and associations exist, which have formed a federation.

Mme. De Veyra has four children, "as bright, healthy and happy as any mother could wish," as she described them.
